What is the deadline for applications for the clinics?
- For Fall 2019 and Spring 2020, the deadline for applications is Friday, February 22, 2019 at 5pm.

What is a clinic?
- A clinic is a law school course in which law students work with real clients and real cases.
- In a clinic, YOU are the lawyer/mediator/investigator.
- Throughout the clinic, an experienced faculty member is your guide and supervisor.
- Each law clinic provides a different experience, and we have a wide range of clinic courses.

What are some reasons to take a clinic?
- Seize an opportunity to engage in active, experiential learning.
- Learn transferable skills.
- Synthesize areas of the law.
- Obtain an education in a personalized setting.
- Learn a new area of the law.
- Promote social justice and provide much needed service to the community.
- Enhance your resumé and gain work experience.

What clinics are accepting applications for Fall 2019 and Spring 2020?
- Animal Welfare (6 credits)
- Chance at Childhood (4 credits) For information on the Child & Advocacy certificate please visit http://chanceatchildhood.msu.edu/curriculum.html.
- Civil Rights (4 or 6 credits per semester, two-semester commitment required)
- First Amendment* (4 credits)
- Housing Law (4 or 6 credits)
- Immigration Law (6 credits)
- Indian Law (4 credits)
- Intellectual Property* (3 credits)
- Low-Income Taxpayer Clinic (6 credits)

*NOTE: The First Amendment and IP clinics are not offered in the spring. The IP clinic is pending.
How do I enroll in a clinic?
- Timely complete and submit the Law Clinic Application including all required documents. The application is available online at http://law.msu.edu/clinics/.

Where can I obtain more information about the clinics?
- Talk to former and current law student clinicians about their experiences.
- Contact clinic faculty members with your questions about a particular clinic or the clinic experience.
- Visit the MSU Law Clinic’s homepage:

http://law.msu.edu/clinics/

IMPORTANT NOTE REGARDING PLACEMENT IN THE LAW CLINIC:

The clinic will make diligent efforts to accommodate applicants’ ranked preferences and to ensure all qualified applicants have a chance to participate in a clinic. Unfortunately, due to space and resource limitations, the clinic cannot always grant all applicants’ requests.

Applicants who are not extended an offer to participate in a clinic are strongly encouraged to reapply in future semesters.