The Lori E. Talsky Center for Human Rights of Women and Children at Michigan State University College of Law presents:

Externship Information Session about International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia: Real, Live Former Externs Give the Lowdown

MSU Law 3Ls Sana Abid and Namira Islam will speak about their summer 2012 externship experiences at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY).

Hear about the high-level, sophisticated, and challenging legal work involved in these externships; and, this is work in cases that may actually make a difference in the world!

Assistant Dean for Career Development Elliot Spoon will moderate the discussion and provide information about available externships and the application process.

Monday, September 10, 2012
5 p.m.
MSU Law, Castle Board Room

Sandwiches will be served.

The International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY), established pursuant to a United Nations resolution, is an international criminal court dealing with violations of international humanitarian law that took place during the armed conflict in the Balkans during the 1990s. Since its founding in 1993, the ICTY has irreversibly changed the landscape of international humanitarian law and brought perpetrators to justice.
