Trustees Celebrate 60-Year Reunion

Trustee Major “Mike” Morganthau, ’54, this year celebrates his 60-year reunion since graduating from Detroit College of Law. Morganthau—who recently participated in the Bocca Raton Alumni Reception with his wife, Sheila—will attend this year’s MSU Law: Past, Present, and Future Class Reunion celebration. The event will be held on Friday, April 18, at the Tiger Club at Comerica Park. All alumni will be honored, with special recognition for graduates from class years ending in 4 and 9.

To serve as a host and help encourage your classmates to attend the reunion, contact the Office of Advancement at 517-432-6840 or alumni@law.msu.edu.

Making a Difference

Tamae Title, ’11, wins a 2014 Barristers’ Ball Scholarship recipient. “The Barristers’ Ball Scholarship has paid immediate dividends in more ways than one,” Tita says.

“Our continued support of our students and programs is invaluable. Alumni donors are listed by class year with their donor partner, if applicable. Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Because the Law College is a private institution, you may deduct 30% (or less) from your gift, depending on your tax return. Our most recent annual report can be found online at www.law.msu.edu/reports.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

Thank you to the many alumni, faculty, staff, and friends who make your gifts, pledge or pledge payment from January 1 through December 31. Your continued support of our students and programs is invaluable. Alumni donors are listed by class year with their donor partner, if applicable. Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Because the Law College is a private institution, you may deduct 30% (or less) from your gift, depending on your tax return. Our most recent annual report can be found online at www.law.msu.edu/reports.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

Thank you to the many alumni, faculty, staff, and friends who make your gifts, pledge or pledge payment from January 1 through December 31. Your continued support of our students and programs is invaluable. Alumni donors are listed by class year with their donor partner, if applicable. Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Because the Law College is a private institution, you may deduct 30% (or less) from your gift, depending on your tax return. Our most recent annual report can be found online at www.law.msu.edu/reports.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

Thank you to the many alumni, faculty, staff, and friends who make your gifts, pledge or pledge payment from January 1 through December 31. Your continued support of our students and programs is invaluable. Alumni donors are listed by class year with their donor partner, if applicable. Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Because the Law College is a private institution, you may deduct 30% (or less) from your gift, depending on your tax return. Our most recent annual report can be found online at www.law.msu.edu/reports.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

Thank you to the many alumni, faculty, staff, and friends who make your gifts, pledge or pledge payment from January 1 through December 31. Your continued support of our students and programs is invaluable. Alumni donors are listed by class year with their donor partner, if applicable. Donor partners who graduated in different years are listed alphabetically under their respective class years. Noncash donations are listed as ‘gifts.’

Because the Law College is a private institution, you may deduct 30% (or less) from your gift, depending on your tax return. Our most recent annual report can be found online at www.law.msu.edu/reports.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.

‘Gifts in-kind’ are recognized by the Law College and our donors.
Faculty Give Back, Support Scholarship

MSU Law faculty members are giving more than just a great education in the classroom; they are helping students pay their tuition through scholarships. Established in 2009, the Faculty Scholarship Fund has grown to more than $50,000. Each year, two-straight scholarships funds to offset the cost of tuition. This year’s recipients are Matthew Peterson, 2L, and Rachael Wolfe, 3L.

“As a faculty, we love to teach—we are helping to shape the next generation of legal professionals,” says Prof. Kristin Bowman, co-chair of the 2011 All U campaign, which annually raises support for the scholarship. “This allows students a foot in the door on another level!”

MSU Law faculty achieved an unprecedented $5,500 per student in the 2011 All U Campaign, much of the funds raised were contributed to the Faculty Scholarship Fund.

Bowman notes, “It is a small component of the scholarship for the students who give us so much.”