

MY TRUTH, OUR REALITY: A STUDENT PERSPECTIVE

Thursday, March 15 at 9:00 am – 12:00 pm

POSTERS & INSTALLATIONS

Empower Memphis: Reclaiming Stolen Spaces © Natasha Wilkins, MSU College of Law

Firsting & Lasting: Writing Indians Out of (and Into) Existence at Michigan State University © Monica Williamson, College of Social Science, Anthropology

The Dangers of Limit Visits for Michigan Inmates © Andrew Rockett & Nathan Penning, College of Social Science, History

Intergenerational © Desiree Bennett, College of Social Science, Psychology

Racial Health Inequality in the United States © Erik Rose, College of Social Science, History

Wanagi (Ghost) © Emmy Scott, MSU College of Law

Police Violence and Racial Healing in America © Gia Toler & Jeffrey Franklin, MSU James Madison College, Political Theory

POETRY & PROSE

9:55 am © Opening

They tried to bury us. They didn't know we were seeds. © Kanza Khan, James Madison College, International Relations (Class of 2014)

10:05 am – 10:30 am © First Panel

Ensuring Accountability through Insurance: Using the Minnesota Police Insurance Amendment to Prevent Police Brutality and Hold Officers Accountable © Maurice Cheeks, MSU College of Law

Reconciliation Without Truth: Structural Reform Litigation Ignores the Human Victims of Police Misconduct © Evan Hebert, MSU College of Law

10:35 am – 11:10 am © Second Panel

African Americans and the Era of Mass Incarceration © Tristyn Walton, Public Policy and Interdisciplinary Studies: Community Governance and Advocacy, Social Science Scholar

Confronting the Ghost of Dred Scott Lingerin g in Our Constitutional Law © Christopher Kozak, MSU College of Law

Balancing the Scale of Justice © Robert Alexander, MSU College of Law

11:15 am – 11:50 am © Third Panel

Women of Color in Law: Why Law Schools Must be Spaces of Truth and Reconciliation © Natasha Wilkins, Yasmeen Farran, Chloe Elm, Victoria Espinoza, and Danielle Rodgers, MSU College of Law

11:50 am – 12:00 pm © Closing

They tried to bury us. They didn't know we were seeds. © Kanza Khan, James Madison College, International Relations (Class of 2014)